Annual Fund

ANNUAL FUND

Fort Walla Walla Museum's purpose is to discover, preserve and share the rich heritage of the Walla Walla region. Because our budget is substantially smaller than most similar-sized museums, we rely on the commitment of our supporters in the community. Your gift to the Annual Fund enables us to maintain and enhance our programs, services, and exhibits. Every gift helps!

Discovering

Our new Heritage Research Services program has helped local construction projects meet Federal and State cultural resource requirements. As part of these projects, our staff and volunteers have learned more about Walla Walla's early trolley system, local farm life, Fort Walla Walla and area prehistory. This knowledge will be shared in exhibits, presentations and publications.

Preserving

The Museum's visibility has increased significantly over the years. Our collection of artifacts, photos and historical documents continues to grow. We now have more than 45,000 items in our climate-controlled repositories. Your gift to the Annual Fund helps us process artifacts and ensure these regional treasures are preserved for future generations.

Sharing

In the last decade, more than 235,000 visitors became better connected with their heritage through our exhibits and programs.

Countless others have benefited from our web site and publications. Your gift enables us to provide many new exhibits and allows us to pursue increased support from foundations, trusts, corporations, and other grantors.

Regional Heritage

The Museum benefits the region in two ways. It enhances our quality of life by discovering, preserving and sharing regional cultural heritage. Among our region's major attractions, the Museum serves as an economic engine by bringing in visitors from all 50 states; Washington, D.C.; and an average of 40 countries annually. Tourists visiting the Museum spent $2.6 million locally last year.
